

Resources about diversity and racism for children, young people and families

This is a collection of resources that will hopefully help you to have informed conversations around the topics of race, diversity, and justice. This is by no means exhaustive, so if you know of other things, let us know at youth@london.anglican.org.

Books for children and young people

God's very good idea by Trilia Newbell and Catalina Echeverri

God's Dream by Archbishop Desmond Tutu

Books for adults

We need to talk about race by Ben Lindsay

Articles

How can we talk to our children and teens about injustice? By Parenting for faith

Are you M.A.D. with the world? By Rev Dr Kate Coleman

Watch the entire CNN/Sesame Street racism town hall

What should our response to the Black Lives Matter movement look like? By Annie Willmott at Honest Conversation

25+ Culturally Diverse Stories for Children by Lucy at The Hope Filled Family

Websites/Facebook pages

Check your blind spot

The Black Curriculum - Facebook page

Collections of resources

Addressing Racial and Religious Prejudice Pinterest board.

Anti-racism Resources